                                                                                   G
Intro: C F Am F
                                                                Cause the world is at our feet
                                                                Chorus:
Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
                                                                We've been through a thousand heartbreaks
Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
                                                                                              Am
                                                                But you know we still believe
Am
Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
                                                                We wear the same shirts as our fathers
(We wear our hearts upon our sleeve)
                                                                And our hearts upon our sleeve
Verse 1:
                                                                Don't stop us now we've started
There's a part of my heart that you'll never change
                                                                Cause there's no one we can't beat
There's a dream so alive it's an endless flame
                                                                We wear the same shirts as our fathers
You can't keep us down, cause we'll always come back again
                                                                And our hearts upon our sleeve
For the highs and the lows, for the rise and falls
                                                                Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
And the times that you thought you'd give it your all
                                                                Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
For a night and a dream and those moments you'll never get
                                                                Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
back again
         Δm
Cause the world is at our feet
                                                                (We wear our hearts upon our sleeve)
Chorus:
                                                                Bridge:
                                                                5 Seconds Of Summer, til the end of the game
We've been through a thousand heartbreaks
                                                                The joy, the heartache, the tension, the pain
                              Am
But you know we still believe
                                                                The striker shoots, there's a roar from the crowd
We wear the same shirts as our fathers
                                                                They think it's all over, it is now
And our hearts upon our sleeve
Don't stop us now we've started
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
Cause there's no one we can't beat
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
We wear the same shirts as our fathers
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
And our hearts upon our sleeve
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
                                                                It's a generic football anthem , to be sung around the world
Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
                                                                And we hope it doesn't sound like, any others that you've heard
Oh Oh Oh Ohhh
                                                                Don't stop us now we've started, cause there's no one we can't
(We wear our hearts upon our sleeve)
                                                                beat
Verse 2:
Hear the crowd in the stands and out in the streets
                                                                We wear the same shirts as our fathers, and our hearts upon our sleeve
Every fan everywhere at the edge of their seats
It's a beautiful day for a beautiful game
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
See the players run up and the anthems ring
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
And you're singing so hard you can't hear a thing
                                                                Pa ra ra pa ra ra pa ra ra pa pa
But the beat of your heart as it's feeding you up again
                                                                We wear our hearts upon our sleeve
