

5 Seconds Of Summer - Lost In Reality

```
Verse 2:
Intro: E B Dbm A
                                                             through all the lights in the night sky Bİ-----9--10--9-----
  --9--9----11--9--11----9--11---- you drift away then you disappear counting the days til i bring her back to me eventually my strung out heart needs your angel eyes
       . - - - - - 9 - - - - 9 - - - - - - - 9 - - 10 - - 9 - - - - - - - - they tear me apart and i?m hypnotized
  --11--11--9--11-----9--11-------11--9-- let?s pick up the pieces of whatever?s left of me they?re yours to keep Chorus:
                                                             lost in reality
  --9--9----9--11--9----9--9----9--11--9---- i can feel you in the dark when i fall asleep
                                                                                      Dbm
                                                             all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
                                                             words that you said to me
  -----10--9------10--9------
                                                             hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?
  ----9-----9-----9------9------
  --11-------11------
                                                             bittersweet chemistry
                                                             i can?t escape you anywhere, even in my dreams
                                                                                     Dbm
                                                             all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
Verse 1:
                                                             words that you said to me
you throw me around like a ragdoll
                                                             hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?
and throw me away like your cigarettes Instrumental:
then pick up the pieces of whatever?s left of me FBACB
they?re yours to keep (Bridge)
a million and one ways that i?ve tried
                                                             lost in reality
to turn it around, leave it all behind
                                                             i can feel you in the dark when i fall asleep but every time you turn out to be
                                                             all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
                                                             words that you said to me
one step ahead of me
Chorus:
                                                             hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?
lost in reality
                                                             Chorus:
i can feel you in the dark when i fall asleep
                                                             lost in reality
all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
                                                             i can feel you in the dark when i fall asleep
words that you said to me
                                                                                      Dbm
                                                             all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?
                                                             words that you said to me
bittersweet chemistry
                                                             hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?
i can?t escape you anywhere, even in my dreams
                                                             bittersweet chemistry
all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
                                                             i can?t escape you anywhere, even in my dreams
words that you said to me
                                                                                     Dbm
                                                             all that?s in my head are pictures of memories
hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?
                                                             words that you said to me
```

hey hey hailey, won?t you save me?

Acordes

