

A-Ha - Hurry Home

```
Tom: C
                                                                              no more running
                                                         So I hurry home,
                                                                   C Dm Am Em7 C Dm
                                                         She's all alone,
                                                                               got no money
       C Dm Am Fm7
                                Dm
                                       C Dm Am Em7 C
                                                                                                 Fm7
Hurry home,
                  freight train running
        C Dm Am Em7 C Dm C Dm Am Em7 C (She's alone, she got no money, Going home, I've done my I've been gone too long honey runnin')
                      Gm
                                                         Gm
Why did I waste away the only good thing left to save me?
                                                         Dm
        Dm Am Em7 C
                           Dm
                                    C Dm Am Em7 C
                                                         Why should I go and hide the only good true thing left inside
Hurry home, freight train running
                                                                  Dm Am Em7
                                                                                      Dm
                                                                                 С
          Dm Am Em7 C Dm
                                                                       freight train running
                                                         Hurry home,
            got no money
She's alone,
                   Dm Am Fm7
                                                         I'm doing right, oh, for once in my life now (She's alone, she got no money, I'm coming home, I've done my Bm
runnin')
         C Dm Am Em7 C Dm
                                   C Dm Am Em7 C
                                                         I'm doing right, doing right, yeah, for once in my life now
I'm coming home, no more running
                      Gm
                                                         No more running (he's doing right)
Why now should I deny the only true thing left inside me?
                                                         No more running, I'm doing right
       Dm Am Em7 C Dm
I'm coming home,
                  no more running
                                                         Doing right, no more running
I'm doing right, oh, for once in my life now
                                                         (He's doing right), no more running any more
I'm doing right for once in my life now
                                                         (He's doing right), no more running, no more running
No more running (he's doing right)
                                                         (He's doing right), going home now
No more running, I'm doing right
                                                         (He's doing right), going home, no more running
Doing right, no more running
                                                         (He's doing right), I've been away then
      G
                   C
I'm doing right, no more running (he's doing right)
                                                         (He's doing right), doing right, doing right
Bm Em G
Oh, no, no more running
                                                         (He's doing right), I've gotta go back home, yeah
Dm C Dm Am Em7 C Dm C Dm Am Em7 C Dm C Dm Am Em7 C
                                                         (He's doing right), you've gotta be my darling
                                                         (He's doing right), no more running
Rolling countries, fields unfolding, I swear the winds are (He's doing right), yeah, yeah, for once in my life, in my mind
Rolling countries, fields unfolding, I swear the winds are
                                                         I'm doing right, yeah, oh, yeah
                                                         I'm doing right, doing right.
  Dm C Dm Am Em7 C Dm C Dm Am Em7 C Dm
Acordes
```

