

Aaron Ross - New York

tom:

Intro: E B A E

E B A
There's no need to say goodbye, girl

E B A
'Cause I ain't going nowhere

E B A
I have been lost inside my mind, girl

E B A
For so long I have lost track of time, girl

E B A
So New York City here I come

E B A
Hug me in, hold me with your wide open arms

E B A
I have been searching for something

E B A
And I think you might have what I am looking for

E B A
Oh, I think you might have what I am looking for

E B A
Yes, I think you might have what I am looking for

E B A
Well, I think you might have what I am looking for

Abm A
Or maybe you don't

B A
There's no need to say goodnight, girl

E B A
Oh, in the city that never sleeps

E B A
I need something to ease my mind, girl

E B A
'Cause it's racing like a car through city streets

E B A
I wish that I could run away from here

E B A
And never ever ever ever ever look back

E B A
But I'm still sipping back on vodka

E B A
Oh, still trying to figure out where I lost track

E B A
Yes, I'm trying to figure out where I lost track

E B A
Well, I'm trying to figure out where I lost track

E B A
And I'm trying to figure out where I lost track

Abm A
Way, way back

Abm A B
Oh, way, way back

E B A
I think that I should be moving on now

E B A
'Cause this town has held me for far too long

E B A
Please, won't you tell me if I am wrong, girl?

E B A
Oh, 'cause the heart of a traveler is a spiritual one

E B A
And when I see them lights on Fifth Avenue

E B A
Well I'm gonna be a Dharma bum

E B A
When I see them lights on Fifth Avenue

E B A
Oh, at this time I'll know I've won

E B A
And at this time I'll know I've won

E B A
Oh, at this time I'll know I've won

E B A
Well, at this time I'll know I've won

Ab A
And my life's finally begun

Abm Abm E
And my life's finally begun

Acordes

