                                                                But it?s only today
Capostraste na 1ª casa
                                                                Tomorrow?s coming my way
            [Primeira Parte]
                                                                But it takes a little longer to arrive
           Bb
Wow, I feel lonely today
                                                                ?Cause I can?t seem to sleep at night
Wish there was someone around
                                                                But it?s okay, ?cause right now I got you on my mind
Someone I could pour my heart to out loud, loud
                                                                And I?d take thinking of you over sleeping any time
There?s a pain in my chest
                                                                [Ponte]
A pain like all the rest
And I?m not doing so well
                                                                There?s a sun in the sky, but you?re mine
I?m not doing so well, I confess
                                                                Thunder and lightning make my heart beat faster but you do it
[Refrão]
                                                                The time
But it?s only today
                                                                There?s a sun in the sky, but you?re mine
Tomorrow?s coming my way
                                                                Thunder and lightning make my heart beat faster but you do it
But it takes a little longer to arrive
                                                                The time
                                                                You do it all the time
?Cause I can?t seem to sleep at night
                                                                [Refrão]
But it?s okay, ?cause right now I got you on my mind
And I?d take thinking of you over sleeping any time
                                                                But it?s only today
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                Tomorrow?s coming my way
                                                                But it takes a little longer to arrive
       Bh
It?s a new day today
                                                                ?Cause I can?t seem to sleep at night
It?s weird ?cause I feel different but I feel the same
I was waiting for a message, it?s alright
                                                                But it?s only today
Maybe I?ll get one from you tonight
                                                                Tomorrow?s coming my way
                                                                But it takes a little longer to arrive
I don?t wanna be the first one
                                                                ?Cause I can?t seem to sleep at night
I don?t wanna seem pushy or lame
                                                                [Final]
And I don?t want you to know that I need to speak to you in
                                                                But it?s okay, ?cause right now I got you on my mind
To feel okay, feel okay
                                                                And I?d take thinking of you over sleeping any time
