

Alanis Morissette - Fear of Bliss

```
Tom: B VERSE3:REEF 1
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I could be golden
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I could be glowing REEF 1: for verses and bridges:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I could be freedom
(play it softly on verses and strong on bridge)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  but that could be boring sometimes I feel this is too scary to be true
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I sabotage myself for fear of losing you REEF 2: FOR SPECIAL VERSE (you can play it like this) but is better and rocker play the chords:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  F#M Gb
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  fear of bliss and fear of joyitude
                                Fb minor F#M...
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  F#M Gb
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  fear of bigness and ensuing solitude
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  SPECIAL VERSE: USE REEF 2 OR CHORDS: Ebminor
                                                                         Gb
VFRSF1:RFFF 1
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Gb Fbminor
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     Gb Fbminor
my misery has enjoyed company this talk of liberation makes me want to go lie down and although I have ached Ebminor
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            Ebminor
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Gb
I don't threaten anybody
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  under the covers til the terror of the unknown is gone BRIDGE1:
sometimes I feel more bigness than I've shared with you % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1 VERSE, REEF 1.
sometimes I wonder why I quell when I'm not required to
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I could be full
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I could be thriving
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I could be shining
VERSE2:REEF1
I've tried to be small I've tried to be stunted sounds isolating
I've tried roadblocks and all
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  BRIDGE 4:
my happy endings prevented sometimes I feel this is too good to be true I sabotage myself for fear of what my joy could do sometimes I feel it's all just too big to be true
I sabotage myself for fear of what my bigness could do chorus
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  F#M Gb
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  fear of bliss and fear of joyitude
CHORUS:
                                                                         Gb
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  F#M Gb
fear of bliss and fear of joyitude
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  fear of bigness (and ensuing solitude?)
                                                                         Gb
fear of bigness (and ensuing solitude?)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  PEACE, LOVE , MUSIC AND FREEDOM. :-)
```

Acordes

