

Alice In Chains - Low Ceiling

```
Tom: Gb
                                                      Why's my ceiling another's floor
Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
Intro(Acoustic Guitar):
                                                      Third Part:
                                                      C E A G
                                                                    Gb
                                                       And nobody can tell you
Verse 1:
E B G
                                                                                     Db|-----|
                                                        CE A GB
Old mister fun is back
                                                        It's a moment in time
                                                                                      Gb|-----|
   B G
                                                      C E A G Gb
Wonder where he's been hiding at
                                                        That defines and deforms you
      В
Hanging round the edge
                                                      Riff Intro:
            A B
Walls unfortified, inside
                                                      Aaahhhhhhhhhhhhh Ahhhh ahhhhh ahhhhh ahhhhhh
E B G
                                                      Solo: Rhythm Guitar:(B A G E )4x
No different, patchwork hack
                                                      Chorus:
    В
           G A
                                                          G
                                                                  Α
                                                      Finding ceilings low
Toil away on an unlaid track
E B G
                                                      C G
Falls closing in, got nowhere to hide
                                                      I'm too big or this room's too small
  В
This time
                                                      Third Part:
Chorus:
                                                        E A GBAG E It's a moment in time
           Α
   G
Finding ceilings low
   G
                                                       Bb|12b12-11-12-|
I'm too big or this room's too small
C G A
Why's my ceiling another's floor
                                                       Forth Riff:
                                                       Chords: (B A G E)
Verse 2:
             G
                                                      Write me over, false reporter
Past twisted, expected wrap
       В
Attention span increasingly short
                                                      Can't you let me shine
     В
                G
                                                      Write me over, false reporter
Hard to breathe, this altitude will get you high
  B
I've tried
                                                      Can't you let me shine
                                                      Third Part:
                                                      CE A G
                                                                   Gb
                                                        And nobody can tell you
Chorus:
   G
                                                       C E A
                                                                  G B
Finding ceilings low
                                                        It's a moment in time
                                                       CB A G Gb
C G
I'm too big or this room's too small
                                                        That defines and deforms you
```

Acordes

