Alter Bridge - Break Me Down

Tom: B

   INTR: A E Db B

       Db              A          E
It's too late the time has come
       B        Gb       E       Db
I've kept this inside me way too long
                 A          E
Silence will leave me cold
   B      Gb          E          Db
Lost on a highway that never takes me home

A                E                    Db
B
 I want to step a side I want to give it up before I lose it
all
 It's tearing me inside the way you break me down
A                E                    Db
 There will come a time when I will come undone and you let me
fall
 I leave it all behind before you break me down

Db              A          E
The weight of a thousand lies
       B    Gb        E          Db
A promise is broken on me all the time
Db          A          E
You say that you're sure to change
         B        Gb          E              Db
But that black heart reveals that you always stay the same

 I want to step a side I want to give it up before I lose it
all
A                E                    Db
 It's tearing me inside the way you break me down
A                E                    Db
 I leave it all behind before you break me down

            A       Gb          Db
And I've realized forgiveness is calling
       B  Db
And it's calling
            A       Gb          Db
And I deny the reason I'm falling
       B  Db
Yeah I'm falling
        A       Gb   Db
So let go

 I want to step a side I want to give it up before I lose it
all
A                E                    Db
 It's tearing me inside the way you break me down
A                E                    Db
A                E                    Db
 I leave it all behind before you break me down
