

Arani - The World Awake

```
Tom: C
                                                               No one can escape (Together we are one)
   (INTRO)
                                                               We have to fight (Destroy all this lies)
                                                               The dragon of Selfishness will eat us
G A AAAAAAALL
(PARTE 1)
                                                               (SOLO)
                                                               Base: A F G
Everything has always been the same
                                                               (PARTE 1)
Everybody has been living in their self-world
Now it's time to awake
                                                               (PARTE 2)
(PARTE 2)
A F G (2x)
                                                               (PRE-CHORUS)
                                                               Nothing else matters
Corruption, Selfish, Disorder
                                                               In the end
These are things that we shouldn't accept
                                                               Everybody
Is there any one to save us from this madness?
                                                               Will sleep again
Only together we can escape from this insanity
                                                                E F G A F G
                                                               For all of eternity
(REFRÃO)
                                                               (REFRÃO)2X
The world awake (The war has begun)
                                                               (FINAL) A G F (2X)
