

Ariana Grande - ?The Boy Is Mine

```
Happens all the ti - ime
                tom:
Intro: Gm Cm7
                                                                [Pré-Refrão]
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                Somethin' about him is made for somebody like me
                                                                           Cm7
  How can it be? You and me
                                                                Baby, come over, come over (Oh my)
                  Cm7
Might be meant to be, can't unsee it
                                                                And God knows I'm tryin'
    Cm7
But I don't wanna cause no scene
                                                                But there's just no use in denying
I'm usually so unproblematic
                                                                [Refrão]
So independent
                                                                The boy is mine
Tell me why
                                                                I can't wait to try him
'Cause the boy is mine, mine
                                                                Let-let's get intertwined
                                                                                 Cm7
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                The stars, they aligned
                                                                The boy is mine
Somethin' about him is made for somebody like me
                                                                Watch me take my time
          Cm7
Baby, come over, come over (Oh my)
                                                                I can't beli?ve my mind
And God knows I'm tryin'
                                                                The boy is divine, boy is
But there's just no use in denying
                                                                [Ponte]
[Refrão]
                                                                   And I know it's simply meant to be
The boy is mine
                                                                And I, I take full accountability for all these years
I can't wait to try him
                                                                Promise you I'm not usually
Let-let's get intertwined
                                                                Dm7
                                                                Like this shit, it's like news to me... to me
                 Cm7
The stars, they aligned
                                                                But I can't ignore my heart, boy
The boy is mine
                                                                [Refrão]
Watch me take my time
I can't beli?ve my mind
                                                                The boy is mine
             Cm7
The boy is divine, boy is mine
                                                                I can't wait to try him
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                Let-let's get intertwined
                                                                The stars, they aligned
  Please know this ain't what I planned for
                                                                The boy is mine
                        Cm7
Probably wouldn't bet a dime or my life on
                                                                Watch me take my time
There's gotta be a reason why
                                                                I can't beli?ve my mind
My girls, they always come through in the sticky situations
                                                                             Cm7
                                                                The boy is divine, boy is mine
Say it's fine (It's fine)
```

Acordes

