

Avantasia - Farewell

```
I have been caught in a cage of despair
                                                                      My heart as a monk's cell so empty and bare
Am G F Dm E
 (forma dos acordes no tom de C )
                              Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
                                                                                                                           E7 F G
Afinação
Intro: Am F C G Am F Dm E
Am F C G Am G F G E
                                                                      But no holy water can make me forget you again
(Am F C G Am F Dm E)
(Am F C G Am G F G E Am)
                                                                      Time telling me to say farewell
                                                                      But I knew that I would fight hell
                                                                             F C G
                                                                      And I know: We will
                                                                      Go for another time we can see
Days had come, Winters had gone
Am F
                                                                      For another time we'll be free G Am G
And we gambolled like siblings in Paradise
                                                                      For no more farewell
                 Dm G
I was your knight holding you tight
                                                                      Time telling me to say farewell
As a brother when I saw your crying eyes

G F E7 Am
                                                                      But I knew that I would fight hell
Time wents by and we had to say goodbye
                                                                      And I know: We will
Staring up to the clouds above
                                                                      Go for another time we can_see
                                                                      For another time we'll be free G Am
Children, so little and sad
         E Am
Hoping the saints could help one day
                                                                      For no more farewell
                                                                      ( Am F C G Am F C G ) ( Am F G C F G Am )
Lead us together again
                                                           E7 F
Am G F
                                                    E
                                                                      Holding the key to the alley of dreams still in hands
Time telling me to say farewell
                                                                      Time telling me to say farewell
But I knew that I would fight hell
                                                                      But I knew that I would fight hell
And I know: We will
                                                                      And I know: We will
Go for another time we can see
                                                                      Go for another time we can see
For another time we'll be free {\color{red} \mathbf{G}}
                                                                      For another time we'll be free
For no more farewell
                                                                      For no more farewell
                                                                      Time telling me to say farewell
Time telling me to say farewell
But I knew that I would fight hell
                                                                      But I knew that I would fight hell
    F C G
                                                                           F C G
And I know: We will
                                                                      And I know: We will
Go for another time we can see
                                                                      Go for another time we can see
For another time we'll be free {\color{red}G}
                                                                      For another time we'll be free \frac{G}{G}
For no more farewell
                                                                      For no more farewell
             F Dm
                                                                                          Am F
Stepbrother tell me where have you been
Am F Am
                                                                      No farewell could be the last one
                                                                            G F G Am G
When they brought me to this godforsaken place \begin{tabular}{lll} Am & F & Dm & G \end{tabular}
                                                                      If you long to meet again C G7 Am F C G
Sign of the cross they took me away

Am

F

Am
                                                                      No farewell could be the last one C G F G Am G
For healing with herbs by the way of grace {\color{red} \mathbf{G}} \qquad {\color{red} \mathbf{F}} \qquad {\color{red} \mathbf{E7}} \qquad {\color{red} \mathbf{Am}}
                                                                      If you long to meet again C G7 Am F
                                                                      No farewell could be the last one C G F G Am G
Now I wait for the day to feed the flames
                                                                      If you long to meet again
```

Acordes

