

Bad Omens - Limits

Well, everyone's listening
                              tom:
                 Α
                                                                     And they know the difference
                                                                     G2
             Drop D (D A D G B E )
                                                                     You're not failing our senses
Intro:
                                                                     D2
                                                                     If you're throwing
You set me up as the villain
                                                                     Me to the lions
But you never mentioned the root of the problem
                                                                                           Dm
                                                                     You should know I'm not scared of dying
                                                                                            Bb
                                                                                                                            Dm
                                                                     I wouldn't take back one thing I did, one word I said
Took what you wanted and flipped it
But you won't be dragging my name to the bottom
                                                                     But I'm gonna make you wish you did
                                                                     [Ponte]
                                                                      Bb C
                                                                             Dm
                                                                     I'm holding on to this until the scale's untilted
I won?t forget
                                                                     Well, everyone's listening, and they know the difference
Well, everyone's listening, and they know the difference
                                                                     You're not failing our senses, but you?re pushing my limits
You're not failing our senses, if you?re throwing
                                                                     If you?re throwing
Me to the lions
                     Dm
                                                                     Me to the lions
You should know I'm not scared of dying
                                                                                           Dm
                       Bb
                                                      Dm
                                                                     You should know I'm not scared of dying
I wouldn't take back one thing I did, one word I said
                                                                     I wouldn't take back one thing I did, one word I said
But I'm gonna make you wish you did
                                                                     Whoaa
Jump to conclusions, they fall for illusions
                                                                     If you?re throwing
But you wouldn't dare try to stop them
                                                                     Me to the lions
                                                                                           Dm
                                                                     You should know I'm not scared of dying
You're going low at the end of the road
                                                                                            Bb
But that won't be the path that I follow
                                                                     I wouldn't take back one thing I did, one word I said
                                                                     Oh God, I?ll make you wish you did
So much unsaid, left me for dead
                                                                     E|0-----|
I won't forget
