

Bakar (UK) - Hell N Back

```
tom:
                Ab
                                                                 Yeah, yeah
Intro: Ab Bbm7
                                                                     Bbm7
        Ab Bbm7
                                                                 Yeah
[Refrão]
                        Ah
Could you tell where my head was at when you found me?
                   Bbm7
                                                                 Ab
Me and you went to hell and back just to find peace
                     Ah
Man, I thought I had everything, I was lonely
              Bbm7
Now you're my everything, I was lonely
[Primeira Parte]
I mixed a lot of love with a lot of drugs, then I found you
                                                                        Bbm7
             Bbm7
She liked petty crimes, she had green eyes, like mountain dew
                                                                 Bbm7
And where she go, I'll never know, her friends bounced too
           Bbm7
I guess it's their loss 'cause they'll never know what we'll
                                                                 Ah
amount to
Would you be my light, be my yellow?
                                                                 Bbm7
P.y.t walking down Portobello
         Bbm7
Put a smile on this face at the end of the day
Mdma helped us fly away
         Ah
                                                                 Bbm7
Who'da known, who'da known you would save my life?
Who'da known, who'da known you would fly my kite?
                                                                 [Refrão]
      Bbm7
Could you tell, could you tell?
Could you tell?
[Refrão]
                        Ah
Could you tell where my head was at when you found me?
                   Bbm7
Me and you went to hell and back just to find peace
                                                                 [Final]
                     Ah
Man, I thought I had everything, I was lonely
              Bbm7
Now you're my everything, I was lonely
                                                                     Bbm7
[Pós-Refrão]
                                                                     Ab
    Ab
Yeah
                                                                 Yeah
    Bbm7
Acordes
                   Bb<sub>n</sub>7
```

```
Yeah
    Ab
[Segunda Parte]
I remember, I remember I was all alone
Late night you would call my phone
        Bbm7
Just to check if I was blessed 'cause you knew I was low
Head gone, rolling off the throne
I remember, I remember we was in the park
Late night made love on the grass
Got my head in the clouds, counting all my stars
In my ears said the world was ours
Got to hell and back just to heal my wounds
'Cause it gets like that, wrong side of the moon
No Tutankhamun, you're my cleopatra
No side thing, don't need a backup
Need a real one, don't need an actor
And last one today, think you won a bafta
Come and be my girl, yeah
                        Ah
Could you tell where my head was at when you found me?
                   Bbm7
Me and you went to hell and back just to find peace
                     Ab
Man, I thought I had everything, I was lonely
              Bbm7
Now you're my everything, I was lonely
Yeah (just like we say)
Yeah (just like we say)
Yeah, yeah (just like we say, say, say)
```

