

Be Japy - Another Chance

```
C)
(com acordes na forma de Woaaahhhh another chance to Capostraste na 5ª casa
                                                              Change is gone
Some usual day
Everything seems ok
Lights in the move a perfect forward
                                                             There will be new onces but first
Your headphones are like shields in a silence
                                                             you'll have to find them
Why would be if you would take it a look
                                                             This is the day
Woaaahhhh another chance to
                                                             Don't look away
         Am
Change is gone
                                                              From the wings of humanity today
There will be new onces but first
                                                                            С
you'll have to find them
                                                             Cause' this is life life life is to short to waste a chance
This is the day
                                                              (Pre-Refrão)
Don't look away
From the wings of humanity today
                                                             That is just a song
                 Em Am C
Cause' this is life life life is to short to waste a
                                                                  Em Am C
                                                             But changes can only start in your mind
chance
Every evening you watching tv
There's another misery
                                                              (Depois de cantar o refrão final)
Only pictures and numbers you see
Cause you dont mind
                                                                          C Em Am C F G
(CC)
Everyday
                                                             Acordes finais: C C C C G C
Close your eyes and go to bed
Acordes
```

Why would be if you would take it a look

