

Billy Idol - 77 (feat. Avril Lavigne)

```
But you better swing and you better not miss (hey)

C G Em Bm
                                                                   [Refrão]
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                   She said she don't wanna run anymore
                                                                                     Bm
                                                                   Don't care about goin' to Heaven
Goin' out after midnight
                                                                   C G
She said do it like we did it before
Two vampires on the streets
                                                                   Em Bm
Fight back like '77
                                                                   C G
Hey, hey, hey-ayy
People stare as we walk by
'Cause they're scared of you and me
                                                                   Fight back like '77
                                                                   C G
Hey, hey, hey-ayy
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                   Fight back like '77
\ensuremath{\mbox{I'm}} not the same as them, \ensuremath{\mbox{I}} never was
             Em
Never gonna let us in to their club
                                                                   [Ponte]
Know you gotta give it back as good as you get
     Em
'Cause this is our time and this is our shot
                                                                   It's our lives in their hands
[Refrão]

Hey, hey, hey-ayy
They hate us and they don't know why
C
No love from policemen
                                                                   Fight back like '77
Too fast to live, too young to die
                                                                   ( C G )

Come their teddy boys and the skins Em
                                                                   ( C G )
I can see them walking up on the bridge
No, it's not a fair fight, it never is
                                                                   Fight back like '77
