

Blackbear - Chateau

```
Tom: D
                                                               Tryna get it back, tryna get it back, tryna get it back
Suite 23 at the Chateau
                                                               Age 25, and I'm rich now
Had a heart, man, I'm tryna get it back though
                                                               No excuse you be actin' like a bitch now
Tryna get it back, tryna get it back, tryna get it back
                                                               I gave you diamond, a pool, write the checklist
                                                               She want a ring, ain't fuckin' with a necklace
Age 25, and I'm rich now
No excuse you be actin' like a bitch now
                                                               I'm a fool for these things with the big butts
                                                               Take a home body, turn into a rich slut
I gave you diamond, a pool, write the checklist
She want a ring, ain't fuckin' with a necklace
                                                               Feel like I can't trust nobody, even day ones
I'm a fool for these things with the big butts
                                                               Watch out for them snake ones
Take a home body, turn into a rich slut
                                                               Suite veintitrés at the Chateau
Feel like I can't trust nobody, even day ones
                                                               Had a heart, man, I'm tryna get it back though
Watch out for them snake ones
                                                               [Break]
                                                               White linen, white rose
Suite veintitrés at the Chateau
                                                                       Em
Had a heart, man, I'm tryna get it back though
                                                               Let's go, oh, oh
                                                               [Verse 2]
White linen, white rose
                                                               So please baby, please baby, talk slow
Let's go, oh, oh
                                                               Talk slow I'm off the blow, I'm off the dro', I'm in my zone
[Verse 2]
                                                               Grab your girls, grab your phone, and let's go
So please baby, please baby, talk slow
                                                               Get ready, we goin' to the Chateau
Talk slow I'm off the blow, I'm off the dro', I'm in my zone
                                                               Legs around my neck, I got your nails up in my back
                                                               Em Bm
                                                               Get ready, we goin' to the Chateau
Grab your girls, grab your phone, and let's go
                                                                                   Gb
Get ready, we goin' to the Chateau
                                                               No love, no love, no love, just fuckin' in a California king
              Gb
Legs around my neck, I got your nails up in my back
                                                               Baby
             Bm
Get ready, we goin' to the Chateau
                                                               [Chorus]
No love, no love, no love, just fuckin' in a California king
                                                               No love, no love, no love
Baby
                                                               No love, no love, no love
[Chorus]
                                                               No love, no love, no love, babe
No love, no love, no love
                                                               No love, no love, no love
No love, no love, no love
                                                               No love, no love, no love
                                                               No love, no love, no love, fuckin' in a California king
No love, no love, no love, babe
No love, no love, no love
                                                               [Outrol
No love, no love, no love
                                                               White linen, white rose
No love, no love, no love, fuckin' in a California king
                                                               White linen, white rose
[Verse 1]
                                                               White linen, white rose
                                                               White linen, white rose
Suite 23 at the Chateau
Had a heart, man, I'm tryna get it back though
                                                               White linen, white rose
```

Acordes

