

Bob Dylan - Changing Of The Guards

```
Tom: G
                                                                The palace of mirrors
                                                                         Ah
                                                                Where dog soldiers are reflected,
Intro: Ab
                                                                The endless road and the wailing of chimes,
Sixteen vears.
                                                                         Fm
                                                                                          Ab
                                                                The empty rooms where her memory is protected,
                Fb
Sixteen banners united over the fields
                                                                                                        Dh
                                                                                                                             Ah
                                                                Where the angels' voices whisper to the souls of previous
While the good shepherd grieves
                  Ab
         Fm
Desperate men, desperate women divided, (Interlude)
                Fm
                               Db Eb
Spreading their wings 'neath the falling leaves.
                                                                She wakes him up
                                                                Forty-eight hours later, the sun is breaking Fortune calls.
                                                                           Fm
                                                                                              Db
                                                                Near broken chains, mountain laurel and rolling rocks.
       Ab
                        Fh
I stepped forth from the shadows, to the marketplace, Ab
                                 Eb
                                                                She's begging to know what measures he now will be taking Merchants and thieves, hungry for power, my last deal gone
                              Fb
                                                                He's pulling her down and she's clutching on to his long golden locks.
She's smelling sweet like the meadows where she was born,
              Db Eb
                           Ab
On midsummer's eve, near the tower.
                                                                Gentlemen, he said,
(Interlude)
                                                                       Ab
                                                                                        Fb
                                                                I don't need your organization, I've shined your shoes,
                                                                               Db
The cold-blooded moon.
                                                                I've moved your mountains and marked your cards
            Ab
                                                                              Fm
                                                                                                   Ab
The captain waits above the celebration
                                                                But Eden is burning, either get brave for elimination
            Fm
                        Db
Sending his thoughts to a beloved maid
                                                                Or else your hearts must have the courage for the changing of Ah
           Fm
                                 Fb
Whose ebony face is beyond communication.
                                                                the guards.
                                                                (Interlude)
The captain is down but still believing that his love will be repaid.
                                                                Peace will come
                                                                                     Fb
They shaved her head.
                                                                With tranquility and splendor on the wheels of fire
                   Ab
                                                                                 Eb
                                                                        Db
She was torn between Jupiter and Apollo.
                                                                But will offer no reward when her false idols fall
           Fm
                          Db
                                                                                  Eb
                                                                                                    Fm
A messenger arrived with a black nightingale.
                                                                And cruel death surrenders with its pale ghost retreating
                Fm
                                                                           Db
                                                                                        Eb
I seen her on the stairs and I couldn't help but follow,
                                                                Between the King and the Queen of Swords.
          Fm
                                             Dh Fh
Follow her down past the fountain where they lifted her veil.
                                                                       Ab Eb
(Interlude)
                                                                The "Interlude" (that the sax plays) is:
I stumbled to my feet.
                                                                                                                      Ab
I rode past destruction in the ditches
With the stitches still mending 'neath a heart-shaped tattoo.
                                                                One word of note: It is much easier to play this song with a capo on the
Renegade priests and treacherous young witches first fret (i.e. play Em G D Em C D... while the 1st fret is Db Eb Ab
                                                                fretted). This
Were handing out the flowers that I'd given to you.
                                                                makes it more easier and does not make the guitar sound too
Acordes
                   AЬ
                                                            DЬ
                                 Fn
                                              Eb
                                                                         En
                         ukulele-chords.com
                                      ukulele-chords.com
                                                                 ukulele-chords.com
                                                                               ukulele-chords.com
```