

Bon Jovi - Rivers Run Dry

Tom: B
                                                               Sometimes your winning streak will stay
   (INTRO) repeat once
                                                                                 Gb
                                                               Sometimes you gotta pay
(VERSE)
                                                               ((Chorus))
                                                                                   Gb
Dbm
                                                               Everybody knows the promise of the river
I didn't want to say it in this way
I didn't want to see the day I'd say these words to you
                                                               Everybody goes with the fire in their eyes
                                                                                     Gb
I didn't want have to explain
                                                               Everybody knows you can lead a horse to water
Sometimes heroes have to lose
                                                               But there's nothing anybody can do
                                                               Rivers run dry
It's killing me to see you cry
                                                               ((SOLO))
Would it make it any better if I told you I did it all for you Dbm
                                                                         Dbm B
                                                               AAH AHH AHH
(BRIDGE )
                                                                   Abm
                                                               AHH AHH AHH
It was just another roll of the dice
                                                               ((BRIDGE ))
Just another star in the sky
                                                               Oh, I remember when the rivers ran high
                                                               E (Gb ) Abm Gb
Tried to touch it but I couldn't fly
                                                               Oh, we could make it to the other side
((Chorus))
                                                               Make it to the other side
                   Gb
Everybody knows the promise of the river
                                                               ((Chorus))
                                                                                   Gb
         Ahm
                                                               Everybody knows the promise of the river
Everybody goes with the fire in their eyes
                      Gb
Everybody knows you can lead a horse to water
                                                               Everybody goes with the fire in their eyes
          В
                                                                                     Gb
But there's nothing anybody can do
(REPEAT THE INTRO ACOUSTIC GUITAR SOLO) - repita o
                                                               Everybody knows you can lead a horse to water solo da intro
                                                               But there's nothing anybody can do
Rivers run dry
                                                               Oh, there's nothing anybody can do
(VERSE )
                                                               There's nothing anybody can do
Gonna have to go away
                                                                                   Abm (Gb )
                                                               When the rivers run dry
I always told you that a man has got to face his own mistakes
                                                                                    (Repeat the intro - faça o solo da intro)
                                                               When the rivers run dry
Sometimes you get a lucky break
