[Refrão]

Don't you tell me you're fine, I can
Tell when you're lying
Caught you slipping on ice but your heart is on fire
'Cause I notice your scars and I know that it's hard
And I hope you don't start getting all fucking quiet
'Cause we made it so far, I don't wanna restart
Recollecting these sparks, reconnecting these wires
'Cause I'm scared of the dark, can we skip to the part
Where you fall in my arms and you tell me you're tired?

[Pós-Refrão]

[Primeira Parte]

Last night you looked quite alright
But you seem so formal all the time
'Cause you laugh and smile
But you never cry, so why are you tired?
We go where we want to go
And we called whatever we want home
And we wonder why they never leave us on our own

[Refrão]

Don't you tell me you're fine, I can
Tell when you're lying
Caught you slipping on ice but your heart is on fire
'Cause I notice your scars and I know that it's hard

[Segunda Parte]
They say you're better off by yourself
But they never understood just how you felt
When the beat dies down and your soul just melts
And you don't have to hold back tears
'Cause after everything I'm here for you
There's nothing you should fear
