

Brandi Carlile - Follow

tom:
 Follow your heart and see where it might take you
 Don't let the world outside there break you
 They know not who you are inside
 They have never felt your hell
 Don't ever let them crack
 Hold out I know you feel it getting cold out
 Without the blanket for your soul now
 Before you know it you'll be frozen
 You have to see this through
 There's no one here but you
 [Refrão]
 I feel the rain coming down
 It reminds me of who I used to be
 But now that's nothing more
 Then a memory
 Don't go, to sleep and cry because tomorrow
 If you let it it will swallow

You up and none of this will matter
 Will matter anymore
 [Refrão]
 I feel the rain coming down
 It reminds me of who I used to be
 But now that's nothing more
 Then a memory
 [Refrão]
 I feel the rain coming down
 It reminds me of who I used to be
 But now that's nothing more
 Then a memory
 Follow your heart and see where it might take you
 Don't let the world outside there break you
 They know not who you are inside
 They have never felt your hell
 Don't ever let them crack
 Your shell

Acordes

