

Brandon Lake - The Great I Am Can

```
If I ask anything in Your name You can do it
                                                                                           tom:
Intro: Dm C G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           (Only You)
          Dm C G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I have just a little bit of faith You can move it
                                                                                 Dm C
Every battles yours, before it even comes
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           (Mountain move)
When the arrows fly, You will stand in front $\operatorname{\textsc{Dm}}$ C $\operatorname{\textsc{G}}$
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I ask anything in Your name You can do it
You will make a way where there isn't one
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           (Only You)
                                                                                                                                                           Am
And though it's hard to see I still believe it's done
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I have just a little bit of faith You can move it
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            (Mountain move)
I can't do it but the great I am can % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) \left(
                                                                                Dm
                                                                                                                     С
I can't do it but the great I am can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I ask anything in Your name You can do it
Who can move the mountain
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           (Only You)
Who can split the ocean
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I have just a little bit of faith You can move it
       C Dm C
I can't do it but the great I am can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          I can't do it but the great I am can Dm C G
( Dm C G )
( Dm C G )
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can't do it but the great I am can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           You can move the mountain
I've been here before, I know how this ends % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) \left(
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           You can split the ocean
                                                                                        Dm C
It's not if You will, I'm convinced it's when
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can't do it but the great I am can
'Cause You have made a way, and You will again

F

'Cause You're holding my tomorrow in Your hands
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Even in the fire
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can see the fourth man
And a Faithful God is all You've ever been
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can't do it but the great I am can
I can't do it but the great I am can \,
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                If I ask anything in Your name You can do it
                                                                                 Dm
I can't do it but the great I am can \,
Who can move the mountain
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I have just a little bit of faith You can move it
Who can split the ocean
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           (Mountain move)
I can't do it but the great I am can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               If I ask anything in Your name You can do it
Yes You can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           (Only You)
I know You can, I know You can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           If I have just a little bit of faith You can move it
Yes You can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can't do it but the great I am can $\mathsf{Dm}$ C \mathsf{G}
I know You can, I know You can
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can't do it but the great I am can
   If I ask anything in Your name You can do it
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           Even in the fire
(Only You)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can see the fourth man
If I have just a little bit of faith You can move it
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   Dm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           I can't do it but the great I am can
 (Mountain move)
```

Acordes

