If you hate the taste of wine, why do you drink it till your blind

Em G Bm C D
And if you swear that there's no truth and who cares, how come you say it like you're right

Why are you scared to dream of God, when it's salvation that you want

You see, stars that clear have been dead for years, but the idea just lives on

In our wheels that roll around, as we move over the ground and all day it seems we've been in between, a past and future town

Em D
We are nowhere and it's now x2
C D
In like a ten minute dream in the passenger seat
G D Em
While the world was flying by
D
I haven't been gone very long but it seems like a lifetime
G - Em x 4, then D

Am D

I been sleeping so strange at night

Am D
Side effects they don't advertise

Am D
I been sleeping so strange

Am D
With a head full of pesticide

G - Bm - Em - D x 2

I got no plans and too much time, I feel to restless to unwind

I'm always lost in thought as i walk the block to my favorite neon-sign

Where the waitress looks concerned, but she never says a word

Just turns the jukebox on and we hum along and i smile back at her

And my friend comes after work, when the features starts to blurr

She says: "These bars are filled with things that kill, but now you probably should have learned"

Same as pre-chorus:

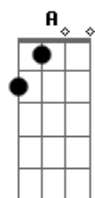

Did you forget that yellow bird? How could you forget that yellow bird

She took a small silverese and pinned it on to me, and said this one will bring you luck

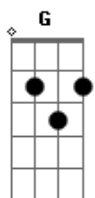

I don't know if it's true, but i keep it for good luck
