Can you hear the silence?
                                                                                                  Fm

Can you see the dark?
                                                                Can you feel my heart
Can you fix the broken?
                                                                 (C Am Em G)(x2)
Can you feel, can you feel my heart?
(C Am Em G)(2x)
                                                                 I'm scared to get close and I hate being alone
(Can you feel my heart)
                                                                 I long for that feeling to not feel at all
                                                                The higher I get, the lower I'll sink
Can you help the hopeless?
                                                                 I can't drown my demons, they know how to swim
Well, I'm begging on my knees
                                                                 (x3)

(C Am Em G)(x2)
Can you save my busted soul?
Will you wait for me?
                                                                 (Can you feel my heart)
