

Bring Me The Horizon - It Never Ends

```
Tom: E
                                                          U have to think of this part being tabbed "half-time"... so its all played very fast...
  Tuning: Drop C
                                                          is the EXACT timing!
                                                                                         Left Speaker
                                                                                                           ]
. =palm-muted
~ =hold note
                                                            ... . ... . ...
 =vibrato
b =bend
                                                          the is played with the snare right before the next boom ;D r =release
p =pull off
                                                          1:59
h =hammer on
"""Intro I"""
Guitar 1
                                                          (.)
Guitar 1
           (u cant really here it, but I 100% sure its there!)
                                                                                           . . . . . . .
                                                          Guitar 2 at the
                                                          """Breakdown II"""
                                                                              2:10
                                                                                                          [fast
                                                          picking on those]
          i'll name 10 as a "t" cuz otherwise this would be endless...
                                                          (.)
                                                                                L
                                                                                  R
Guitar 3 (additional, fucked up sound)
                                                          Guitar 2 at the
                                                          """Breakdown III"""
                                                                                 2:19
                                                                                                 [ Off the beat ]
"""Intro III"""
                0:20
                                                                                                            [fast
                                                          picking on those]
                                                              """Interlude II"""
                                                                                2:30
                          [ Left Speaker (L) ]
Guitar 1
                                                          """Something like a verse..."""
                                                                                          2:48
                                                          Guitar 1
"""Interlude I""" 0:57
                                                          Guitar 2
                                                                     fast/sweap picking on all the notes (dunno what
Guitar 1
         Fast-Picking on this one to call it...)
                                                          """Interlude III"""
                                                                               3:02
Guitar 2
                                                          """Chorus"""
                                                                        3:07
Guitar 1
                                                                                                          (.)
Guitar 2
         starts at the notes with some effects in the background...
"""Chorus"""
                                                          """Outro-Chorus"""
              1:29
                   kinda funny their songs now have a 3:48
                                                          Guitar 1
chorus...
U need some sort of strumming for this but im too tired to figure it out now.
Sorry...
```

(.)

Acordes

