

Bruno Mars - It Will Rain

```
Tom: D
                                                             Walkin' with that troublesome guy
                                                             [Quarta Parte]
           [Primeira Parte]
                                                             But they're just afraid of something they can't understand
If you ever leave me, baby
                                                             Oooh but little darlin' watch me change their minds
Leave some morphine at my door
                                                             Yea for you I'll try I'll try I'll try
'Cause it would take a whole lot of medication
                                                             I'll pick up these broken pieces 'til I'm bleeding
To realize what we used to have
                                                             That'll make you mine
We don't have it anymore
                                                             [Refrão]
[Segunda Parte]
                                                             Cause there'll be no sunlight
There's no religion that could save me
                                                             Gbm D Bm A
                                                             If I lose you, baby
No matter how long my leaves are on the floor
                                                             There'll be no clear skies
So keep in mind all the sacrifices I'm makin
                                                             Gbm D Bm A
                                                             If I lose you, baby
Will keep you by my side
                                                             Just let the clouds, I
Will keep you from walkin' out the door
                                                                            Bm A
                                                             I will do the same if you walk away
[Refrão]
                                                             Everyday, it will rain, rain, rain
                   Α
Cause there'll be no sunlight
                                                             ( D Gbm D Gbm )
Gbm D
              Bm A
If I lose you, baby
                                                             [Ponte]
There'll be no clear skies
                                                                         Fm7
                                                             I'll do the same
      D
              Bm A
If I lose you, baby
                                                                  Gbm
                                                                                Em7
                                                             Goodbye, don't just say, goodbye
Just let the clouds, I
                                                             I'll pick up these broken pieces 'til I'm bleeding
               Bm A
 Gb
I will do the same if you walk away
                                                             That'll make it right
Everyday, it will rain, rain, rain
                                                             [Refrão]
( D Gbm D Gbm )
[Terceira Parte]
                                                             Cause there'll be no sunlight
                                                                  D
                                                             if I lose you, baby
I'll never be your mother's favorite
                                                             There'll be no clear skies
Your daddy can't even look me in the eye
                                                             Gbm D
                                                             if I lose you, baby
Oooh if I was in their shoes, I'd be doing the same thing
                                                             Just let the clouds, I
 Fm7
Sayin there goes my little girl
                                                                            Bm A
                                                             I will do the same if you walk away
                                                             Everyday, it will rain, rain, rain
```

Acordes

