

Caleb Sousa - Wacky & Panda

```
Tom: A
                                                           His head was crowded with thoughts he would rather hate
                                                           Anxiety showing. Uneasy, can he keep up?
Intro: F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
                                                           F7M F7M F7M
                                                                  was a travelling dreamer who
F7M F7M F7M F
He was so lone- ly, then G \to Fb7M(omit5) \to Fm7 \to G
                                                                  Eb7M(omit5) Em7
                                                           Dreamt of nothing and travelled to nowhere
She came with a pretty smile F7M F7M F7M F G Eb7M(c
                                                           F7M F7M F
                 G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
d- den his complaints be-self was lost
                                                                                  inside her al- though his
      of a sud-Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
                                              came futile
F7M F7M F7M F
                                                           Loving was be- set with care
    had no eyes for He
 G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
                                                           F7M F7M F7M F
What- ever wasn't her can one love
                                                           G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
     F7M F7M F
                                                           Do not even exist?
The ground felt unsteady
 G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
                                                           F7M C D7
                                                                          Bm7
                                                                                   C7M
                                                           It's so much more than an earthly desire she walked in
The moment
                                                                  Em7 F7M C
                                                           Come and lit the fire that'll outburn my soul
F7M F7M F7M F
                                                            B7M C7M
             great- ly the Stirring up
                                                                                     Em A A
G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
                                                           I want to go up higher and higher
Torrent that has existed since
                                                           F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
F7M F7M F7M F
                                                           Crazily as it goes
He first concei- ved some G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G
                                                           Fm7 G
                                                           Is it
Re- mote possi- bility
                                                           F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
                                                           Out of his control?
( F7M F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5) Em7 G)
                                                           Em7 G
                                                           Mavhe
               Bm7
                       C7M Em
                                                           F7M F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
F7M C D7
                                         Fm7 F7M
Take me by
          by the hand and make everything beautiful again
                                                           No one really knows
              Bm7
                                           Em A A C7M
                                                           Em7 G
Would it be wrong to see you as more than a friend?
                                                  (yeah) Wait for
                                                           F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
F7M F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
                                                           The dices to roll
Crazily as it goes
                                                           Em7 G
                                                           Oh oh oh
Em7 G
F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
                                                           ( Am7 D7(9b) )
Out of his control?
Em7 G
                                                           C7M
                                                                                   C7M
                                                                                            Am(#11)
                                                           A few pieces of his shattered world still remain
Maybe
F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
                                                                                    C7M Am(#11)
                                                                 Am
No one really knows
                                                           He keeps telling himself there are no reasons to complain, but Fm7 G
                                                           C7M
                                                                      Am C7M
                                                                                               Adim7
Wait for
                                                           He's once more lonely, and now imagining the sound of your
F7M F7M F7M F G Eb7M(omit5)
The dices to roll
                                                           It's dim, it's clouded inside his mind devoid of thoughts
Fm7 G
Oh oh oh
                                                           Yet his heart still throbs for the one he desires Oh, but he should have known that people in love are damned to be lost
Secrets abounded in her eyes as if to daze
                                                           Hopelessly lost
```

Acordes

