

Calum Scott - Last Tears

tom:

```
These will be the last tears I cry for you
                Db (forma dos acordes no tom de C )
Capostraste na 1º casa
Intro: C E7 Am F
                                                                  Speak of the devil
                                                                         E7
Most of my friends
                                                                 Why you calling me now?
         F7
They stop calling by now
                                                                  Too little and too late
                                                                      Fm
'Cause every time they do
                                                                  I was sad now I feel great
I'm still crying over you
                                                                  'Cause what went up
                                                                  Came back down
'Cause even my mother
         E7
                                                                  You're messed up
She still asks about you
                                                                 I see that now
                                                                 If that's love
'Bout when you're coming home
       Fm
And I keep telling her you won't
                                                                 Count me out
'Cause what goes up
                                                                  'Cause I remember the first time
Must come down
                                                                 You called me
I'm messed up
                                                                     Αm
                                                                 The first time
Can't sleep now
If that's love
                                                                  You kissed me
Count me out
                                                                  The first time you said you missed me
                                                                  And I said I missed you too
'Cause I remember the first time
You called me
                                                                  I remember the first time
                                                                      F7
The first time
                                                                  That we fought
You kissed me
                                                                  The first time
The first time you said you missed me
                                                                 We made up
                                                                                      F7
And I said I missed you too
                                                                  That first house we ever moved into
I remember the first time
                                                                  There's a first time for everything
                                                                 But these will be the last tears I cry for you
That we fought
The first time
                                                                 But these will be the last tears I cry for you
 F
                                                                  These will be the last tears I cry for you
We made up
                    F7
That first house we ever moved into
                                                                  These will be the last tears I cry for you
There's a first time for everything
                                                                 These will be the last tears I cry for you
                                               C E7
   Fm
Acordes
      DЬ
                                                                                 ukulele-chords.com
                                       ukulele-chords.com
                                                     ukulele-chords.com
```

But these will be the last tears I cry for you