                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             Keep smoking, I still love you
I fell over
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             But I don't wanna die, I don't wanna die
I fell onto the ground
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              I don't wanna die, I don't wanna die
I wish I was sober

I can't get up off the ground
I closed my eyes and thought I was blind % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) \left(
