Cee Lo Green - Fuck You

```
Tom: C
                                                               Trying to keep ya, trying to please ya.
  (intro / riff)
                                                               Cause being in love with your ass aint cheap, now.
                                                                                          D7
                                                               I pity the fooooooool that falls in love with you
(refrão 1)
                                                               (Oh shit shes a gold digger!)
I see you driving round town with the girl I love
                                                               Well...(Just thought you should know nigga)
And Im like Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo!)
                                                               Ooooooh Ive got some news for you
I guess the change in my pocket wasnt enough
                                                               I really hate your ass right now
And Im like Fuck youuuu! And a-Fuck her too!
                                                               (refrão 3)
I said if I was richer, Id still be with ya
                                                               I see you driving round town with the girl I love
Ha, now aint that some shit? (aint that some shit?)
                                                              And Im like: Fuck youuuu! (000 000 000!)
And although theres pain in my chest,
                                                               I guess the change in my pocket wasnt enough
I still wish you the best with a. . .
                                                              And Im like: Fuck youuuu! And a- Fuck her too!
Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo)
                                                                                           D7
                                                               I said If I was richer, Id still be with ya
(verso 1)
                                                              Ha, now aint that some shit? (aint that some shit?)
Yeah Im sorry; I cant afford a Ferrari,
                                                               And although theres pain in my chest,
But that dont mean I cant get you there.
                                                               I still wish you the best with a. . .
I guess hes an Xbox and Im more Atari,
                                                               Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo)
But the way you play your game aint fair.
                    D7
                                                               (ponte)
I pity the foooooool that falls in love with you
                                                                                           Am
                                                               Fm
                                                               Now baby, baby, baby, why you wanna wanna hurt me so baad?
(Oh shit shes a gold digger!)
                                                               (So bad, so bad, so bad)
Well...(Just thought you should know nigga.)
                                                                                              Am
                                                               I tried to tell my mamma but she told me:
             D7
Ooooooh, Ive got some news for you
                                                                                    D7
                                                               This is one for your dad.
Yeah go run and tell your little boyfriend
                                                               (Your dad, your dad) Yes she did. (Your dad).
(refrão 2)
                                                                      D7
                                                               Im like: Uh! Whhhy? Uh! Whhhy? Uh!
I see you driving round town with the girl I love
                                                                              D7
                                                              Whhhy, laaaady? Owww! I love you, Owww!
And Im like: Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo!)
                                                               I still love you!! Oooooooohhh!
I guess the change in my pocket wasnt enough
                                                               (refrão 4)
And Im like: Fuck youuuu! And a-Fuck her too!
                                                               I see you driving round town with the girl I love
I said If I was richer, Id still be with ya
                                                              And Im like: Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo!)
Ha, now aint that some shit? (aint that some shit?)
                                                               I guess the change in my pocket wasnt enough
And although theres pain in my chest,
                                                              And Im like: Fuck youuuu! And a- Fuck her too!
      D7
I still wish you the best with a. . .
                                                                                           D7
                                                               I said If I was richer, Id still be with ya
Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo)
                                                              Ha, now aint that some shit? (aint that some shit?)
(verso 2)
                                                               And although theres pain in my chest,
                         D7
Now I know, that I had to borrow,
                                                                      D7
                                                               I still wish you the best with a. . .
Beg and steal and lie and cheat.
                                                               Fuck youuuu! (Ooo ooo ooo-oo)
```

Acordes

⊂ © ukulele-chords.com