

Chauchat - The Monotomy of Jesus Christ

tom:
[Primeira Parte]

She was beautiful
And in the end
Took my hand and led me forward toward
Something I had seen but never known before
Her eyes were dancing and she wept
I decided to bide my time in the courtyard by the lake
I took out my dreams
And the blank sheet of my mind and sat
And thought for forty hours about reasons and their ways
But I am unresolved
And she is guiding me towards life
Though I don't see it in the future
I want to experience it one day
Do you feel alright?
Are you tempted by the gun?
And the end it begs to bring to you
So softly and disguised
Decide what's right and what
You feel is wrong, well, did you know that I once thought
That you were pretty when you wept for your mother, dear

[Refrão]
Well, you found comfort in religion
Well, I'm happy for you now, dear
Are you happy too?
The monotony of Jesus Christ
Has worn a hole in my brain, dear
It's gone for good
You promised answers to the unanswered
Questions burning in my mind, dear
Where are they now?

[Segunda Parte]
She was beautiful

And in the end
She told me there was an island
Where her mother once had come from
I don't believe a single riddle that she poses to me
What can I do now that I've decided my own fate?
It begins with us and everything that I observe
Will be okay for hours on end, I feel okay I guess
But that's just medicine
And all the chemical reactions to my life and all its realities
All I think I know
But do you see the sea?
When you are happy in your room and felt
The waves against against the seashells
The waves against my ears
Are you happier
When you are touching the cross?
Or do you wonder where it comes from and where it tends to go?

[Refrão]
Well dear, well
You took comfort in religion
So I'm happy for you now, dear
Are you happy too?
The monotony of Jesus Christ
Has worn a hole in my brain
Like crack cocaine
You promised answers to the unanswered
Questions burning in my brain, dear
I don't see them now

[Final]
Well, she was beautiful
And in the end
She told everyone we loved one another
But it's a lie
Guess I'll die

Acordes

