And cry with the sound of my heart
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       Cause I'm sick and tired of palpitating to his stupid play
Beating for someone that just doesn't pay attention anyway

To take a breath that day
When you held me and touched my face
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       Gbm

His game
He was a pro
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            And just because of you
He knew all the rules
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             I laugh and cry at the same time
Had me wrap tightly around his dirty finger
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            It's never any other way
