

David Allan Coe - You Never Even Called Me By My Name

```
So I'll hang around as long as you will let me
                           tom:
Intro:
                                                              and I never minded standing in the rain
                                                              But you don't have to call me darlin', darlin'
Well it was all that I could do to keep from cryin'
                                                                  C G
                                                                                          C
                                                              You never even call me by my name
[Primeira Parte]
                                                              [Ponte]
Sometimes it seemed so useless to remain
                                                              Well a friend of mine named Steve Goodman wrote that song
But you don't have to call me darlin', darlin'
                                                                              G
                           C G7
                                                              And he told me it was the perfect country and western song.
You never even call me by my name
                                                              I wrote him back a letter and told him
                                                              It was not the perfect country and western song
[Segunda Parte]
                                                              Because he hadn't said anything at all about mama
You don't have to call me Waylon Jennings
                                                              Or trains or trucks or prison or gettin' drunk
And you don't have to call me Charley Pride
                                                              Well he sat down and wrote another verse to the song and he sent it to me and after reading it I realized
And you don't have to call me Merle Haggard anymore that my friend had written the perfect country and western
 Even though you're on my fightin' side
                                                              And I felt obliged to include it on this album.
                                                              The last verse goes like this here:
[Refrão]
                                                              [Quarta Parte]
And I'll hang around as long as you will let me
                                                              Well I was drunk the day my mom got out of prison
and I never minded standing in the rain
                                                              And I went to pick her up in the rain
But you don't have to call me darlin', darlin'
                           С
                                                              But before I could get to the station in a pickup truck
You never even call me by my name
                                                               She got run'd over by a damned old train
[Terceira Parte]
                                                              [Refrão]
Well I've heard my name a few times in your phonebook (hello
                                                              So I'll hang around as long as you will let me
                                                              and I never minded standing in the rain
And I've seen it on signs where I've played
But the only time I know I'll hear David Allan Coe
                                                              But you don't have to call me darlin', darlin'
Is when Jesus has his final judgement day
                                                              You never even call me
                                                                    C [Refrão]
                                                              Well I wonder why you don't call me
                                                              Why don't you ever call me by my name?
