

Coldplay - Yellow

Oh, what a thing to do
                            tom:
Intro: B Gb11 E B B
                                                                'Cause you were all yellow
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                     I drew a line
                                                                I drew a line for you
    Look at the stars
                         Gb11
Look how they shine for you
                                                                Oh, what a thing to do
And everything you do
                                                                And it was all yellow
Yeah, they were all yellow
                                                                [Refrão]
                                                                E7M
                                                                    And your skin
    I came along
                    Gb11
                                                                                       Gb11
I wrote a song for you
                                                                    Oh, yeah, your skin and bones
                                                                           Abm7
And all the things you do
                                                                    Turn in____to something beautiful
                                                                E7M
And it was called Yellow
                                                                    Do you know
                                                                Abm7
                                                                                     Gb11
                                                                     For you, I'd bleed myself
                                                                                                    dry?
So, then, I took my turn
                                                                For you, I'd bleed myself dry
Oh, what a thing to have done
                                                                [Parte Final] B Gb11 E B B
And it was all yellow
