

Concrete Blonde - Mexican Moon

```
Tom: G
                                                                Mariachis and tequila I will dance the night alone
Intro: Am Em F
                                                                Just some time
                                                                Fm
Oh, amigo
                                                                Just a little kiss of mine
Here we do things slow
                                                                Take me where I can forget, senor You are so very kind
Money, art, a broken heart Where did you want to go?
                                                                I look up at the sky
Senor, por favor
                                                                I am tired and dry
                                                                Dos tecate and lime
To the hotel, zona rosa What did I come here for?
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
I run but the damage has been done
                                                                                Em
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
Miles have gone away And my amore he never come
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
                                                                                Em
I look up at the sky
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
I am tired and dry
                                                                I look up at the sky
no tecate and lime
                                                                I will try not to cry
                Fm
Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
                                                                Tres tecate and lime
Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
Senor
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
you are wise
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
I can see a million years A million tears behind your eyes
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
Take me home
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moonlight
Take me to the zona rosa
                                                                Thinking of you underneath the mexican moon
```

Acordes

