        C F C F

[Verse]
C                                      F
It's just me and all these stars tonight
C                                 F
The hone of the engine in my ears
Am                                     F
I'll make my way back to the city lights
Am                                     F
Where I've been spending all these years

C                                    F
The air is prickling at my neck again
C                                    F
Funny how this road can make you smile
Am                                          F
With all the memories of the night we spent
Am                                G
The past escapes you for a while

Just for a while

[Interlude]
C F F Am F Am F

[Verse]
C                                F
And i'll be waiting on the sunrise
C                              F
Not some looks the other way
Am                                   F
Shed some light on all these changes
Am                                    G
Raise the glass to the break of day

Am                                   F
Tonight I'm taking all the backroads home
C                                  G
Just gotta find that peace of mind
Am                                 F
To face these changes i must face alone
C                                  G
Babe i just need a little time

          Am
And i walk mostly hopeless
                F
Find some comfort in despair
                C
Breed some sense into the senseless
               G
Taste the sweet summer air

               Am
And I will walk with my head out now
               F
And they'll bring me to my knees
                C
I will stand up and be selfless
               G
Shed some light on all this greed

            Am
And I?ll take what I'm given
            F
Never ask for nothing more
I'll always question and i'll wonder
                 G
Just what the hell we're fighting for

               Am
I wont be fading with the sunset
          F
I will drive on through the night
And I'll always take the backroads
            G              Am
Till I one day get it right

[Interlude]
F C

[Outro]
G                    Am
Until I Get it right
