Corries - Flower Of Scotland

Tom: D

D A A7
D
Oh flower of scotland, when will we see yer like again
G D A A7 D
That fought and died for yer wee bit hill and glen
G D
That stood against him, proud edward`s army
G D C D
And sent him homeward to think again

D A A7 D
The hills are bare now and autumn leaves lie thick and still
G D A A7 D
For a land that is lost now, which those so dearly held

G D
That stood against him, proud edward`s army
G D C D
And sent him homeward to think again

D A A7 D
Those days are past now and in the past they must remain
G D A A7 D
But we can still rise now and be the nation again
G D
That stood against him, proud edward`s army
G D C D
And sent him homeward to think again
