

Daniel Caesar - Cool

Be colder just for you
                       tom:
                                                     Try your best to calm me down
                                                     Em Em Em On't give them all of yourself
                                                                    Em C A
        D D7M
Try your best to keep composure
                                                     D D7M G 'Cause one day, they won't be around
                     Em C A
D Em
  Don't give up all of your smiles
                                                     Em C A
Can't go to them for help
Don't o
                     G
Push away and they'll come closer
 Em C A
                                                           D7M
Ain't been touched in a while
                                                     Sometimes
                                                                       D
                                                                                     Em Em C A
                                                     I see myself five foot four, playing in my room alone
Sometimes
               D Em Em C A
                                                     Sometimes
I get too excited, stars behind my eyelids
                                                                               Em
                                                     I see myself amus?d in thought, a nigga had no friends at all

                     Em Em C A
I'm nodding in agreement, I don't agree they see it
                                                     Play it cool
 D7M
                                                      Em
                                                                    Em C A
                                                     Do a favor just for you
                                                     D7M G
Cool
Play it cool
 Em
              Em C A
Do a favor just for you
                                                      Em
                                                               Em C A
                                                     Be colder just for you
