                                                               Don't let, these memories get left behind
Intro:
                                                               Refrão:
                                                                              B7
I feel a separation coming on Don't surrender, surrender, surrender Cause I know you want to be moving on B7 Em
                                                               Please remember, remember December
I wish it would snow tonight
                                                               We were so in love back then you'd pull me in, avoid a fight now you're listening, to what they say, Cause I feel a separation coming on don't go that way
Just prove, that there is nothing left to try Remember, remember December cause the truth, I'd rather we just both deny Please Remember
you kissed me with those open eyes
                                                               Ponte:
It says so much it's no surprise to you
                                                               I remember us together
But I've got something left inside
                                                               With a promise of forever
                                                               We can do this
