

Donovan - To Susan On The West Coast Waiting

Tom: F

Tabbed by Stefan W. (for Ela)
Email: footos[at] (feel free to mail me your opinion)

This is the authors own work, it's NOT a official tab released by the artist or his mangement. Therefore it might be not 100% correct, but hopefully enjoyable!

Tuning: Standard (EADGBE)

Chords:

Intro: -----

C G7 C G7

C G7 C G7

NOTE: [PALM MUTING, p.m.]
To reproduce the sloppy sound of the song keep hitting the lower strings palm muted (E A [D]). For the higher strings the muting can be loosened to get a slightly ringing sound. Listen to the song to figure out the rhythm.

Verse 1: p.m.

Dear Susan, I know you love me so
But I want to hear it in my ear
You know I'd be there working at my craft
Had it not been for the draft
Dry up your tear and feel no fear
You're here with me like I'm there with you (let ring)

Chorus: p.m.

To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting
To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting

Verse 2: p.m.

I'm writing a note beneath a tree
The smell of the rain on the greenery
Our fathers have painfully lost their way

That's why, my love, I'm here today
Hear me when I say there will come a day
When kings will know and love can grow

Chorus: p.m.

To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting
To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting
To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting

Verse 3: (same as verse 1) p.m.

Susan, I know you love me so
But I'd like to hear it in my ear
You know I'd be there working at my craft
Had it not been for the draft
Dry up your tear and feel no fear
You're here with me like I'm there with you (let ring)

Final Chorus: p.m.

To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting
To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in Vietnam fighting
To Susan on the west Coast waiting
From Andy supposedly hating
To Susan on the West Coast waiting
From Andy in vietnam fighting

The keyboard part during the chorus may be like this:

to susan on.....waiting....from andy....fighting

% end it with:

ENJOY!!!
