Intro: (keyboard arranged for guitar)

D C
 Morning comes too early,
 and nighttime falls too late.

Am E GaddA G C
 And sometimes all I want to do is wait.

Am E GaddA G D D Am
 The shadow I've been hiding in has fled from me today.

C D D D Em
 I know it's easier to walk away than look in in the eye.

Am G C
 And I will raise a shelter to the sky.

Am G C
 And here beneath this star tonight I'll lie.

Am G C D
 She will slowly yield the light as I awaken from the longest night.

Keyboard/guitar duet:
 (keyboard arranged for guitar)

(guitar)

Dreams are shaking set sirens waking up tired eyes. With the light the memories all rush into his head.

By a candle stands a mirror of his heart and soul she dances. She was dancing through the night above his bed. And walking to the window he throws the shutters out against the wall.

And from an
 ivory tower

hears her call "let light surround you".

(keyboard/guitar duet)

It's been a long long time he's had a while to think it over.
 But in the end he only sees the change, light to dark
 dark to light, light to dark, dark to light.

Heaven must be more than this when angels waken with a kiss.

Sacred hearts won't take the pain. But mine will never be the same.

He stands before the window, his shadow slowly fading from
 the wall.

and from an ivory tower hears her call "let the light
 surround you"

Solo: Requires a single slap-back delay of ~200-300 ms. My timing isn't
 good enough to get it sounding right, or indeed work
 out exactly what is being played. What's below is a rough idea of what I think is going on. To confuse matters even further it sounds
 as though
 there are regular pull-offs onto the open G. Knowing what John Petrucci is capable of, he probably didn't even use a delay !

Once lost but I was found. When I heard the stained glass shatter all a - round me. I sent the spirits tumbling down the hill.

But I will hold this one on high above me
still.

She whispers words to clear my mind, I once could see but now at last I'm blind.

C D D D Em
I know it's easier to walk away, than look it in the eye.

Am G C
But I have given all that I could take.

And now I've only habits left to break.

Am G C D G
Tonight I'll still be lying here, surrounded in all the light.
