

Ed Sheeran - In Other Words

```
Give me how you check the logs before we both sleep
                                    tom:
                                                                                                                                              Give me your ideas and: Babe, come heres
Intro: G D Em C
                                                                                                                                              And all your sad and happy tears
Give me your eyes, bringing in the morning
                                                                                                                                              And how without your breakfast tea, you're incomplete
G D Em C
Give me sunrise
G D
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your hopes
Give me your smile, all your hidden corners

G D Em C
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your doubts
Give me surprise
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your workday news
Give me all your flaws and all your quirks
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your secrets
                                                                                                                                                       D B Em
                   Em
How you braid your hair and tie your shirts
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your truths
Give me how you laugh, how you hurt, when you do {\sf G}
                                                                                                                                              In other words, give me all of you
Give me how you eat and how you run
                                                                                                                                              All the stars in the moonlit sky
Give me what you hate and how you love
                                                                                                                                              Couldn't match what you are to me
Give me what you hide away and think is uncool
                                                                                                                                              Give me your hand
Give me all your fears
D Em
                                                                                                                                              Give me your forever
                                                                                                                                              G D Em C
                                                                                                                                              Give me the chance
Give me all your dreams
Give me all you're scared to lose
                                                                                                                                              Give me now and then
                                                                                                                                                 D Em
Give me all your future
                                                                                                                                              Give me promises
C G
    D B Em
Give me all your blues
                                                                                                                                              Give me: There's nothing to prove
In other words, give me all of you
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your wins
                                                                                                                                                    D B Em
Give me your time, I'll take any moment
G D Em C
                                                                                                                                              Give me all you lose
My one for life G D Em
                                                                                                                                              In other words, give me all of you
Give me your light and give me your shadow

G D Em C
                                                                                                                                              Give me all your dates
I'm right by your side
                                                                                                                                                           Em D
                                                                                                                                              Till our days are through
Give me how you kiss and how you shout
                                                                                                                                              In other words, give me all of you
                                                                                                                                              \begin{picture}(20,0) \put(0,0){\line(0,0){100}} \put(0,0){\line(0,0){100
And leave your clothes around our house
Acordes
```