

Electric Mob - Your Ghost

```
Before I finally go insane
                tom:
                                                               The rain drove out all the flowers in your grave
                B (forma dos acordes no tom de C )
                Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
                                                                                         F7
                                                               But your presence still remains
( Am C Am C )
( Am C Am C )
                                                               And your ghost won?t let me be
                                                                                        G Am C
                                                               No, your ghost won?t let me be
                                                                                      G Am C
                                                               No, your ghost won?t let me be
                                                               Even though
She said: I won?t give up on you
                                                               Refrão 2x
                                                                              Am
She was lying
                                                               This house is gone without you
She left without saying goodbye
                                                               And I don?t feel the same
Am C
Oh, baby, please, I can?t stand losing you
                                                               This house is gone without you
           Am
And she said: I?m sure that you will be fine
                                                               The walls are black and grey
                                                               But your shades are still here
But your ghost won?t let me be
                                                               And I can?t let you live, not this way, no
          F
                     G
No, your ghost won?t let me be
                     G Am
                                                               This house is gone
No, your ghost won?t let me be
                                                               [Solo 2] Am C E7 F E7
Am C E7 F E7
Even though
[Refrão]
                                                               This house is gone
              Αm
This house is gone without you
                                                               And I still feel you through the frames
And I don?t feel the same
                                                               And I don?t have the guts to throw them away
             С
This house is gone without you
                                                               What the hell did I do to deserve all this pain?
The walls are black and grey
                                                               Baby, please
But your shades are still here
                                                                                 G
                                                               Now the rope will set me free
And I can?t let you live, not this way
                                                                                 G
                                                               Now the rope will set me free
This house is gone
                                                                                 G
                                                                                         Am C
                                                               Now the rope will set me free
[Solo 1] Am C E7 F E7
                                                                                 G
                                                               And we?ll be together
I guess it?s time to bring a priest over here
                                                               You and me
     С
                     Em
Acordes
                         ukulele-chords.com
                                      ukulele-chords.com
```