            9-1-1 what's your emergency?
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                [Segunda Parte]
Don't think I can take it
                                                                             Em
            Em
With every drama a piece of me dies
Like some kind of sadist
                                                                              Е
                Em
I think that he likes to see the pain in my eyes
He knows that I'm lovesick
                                                                [Pré-Refrão]
                  Em
He kissed me and promised I will be alright
                  Am
We both know it's bullshit
              Е
The longer I'm with him the less I'm alive
[Pré-Refrão]
Doctor's on the other line
'Cause he's not coming home tonight
And I just took my very last pill
                                                                [Refrão]
Need something to numb the pain
                                                                              Dm
Demons knocking on my brain
I think they coming in for the kill
                                                                  Am
[Refrão]
Nine one wanna need some
                                                                     Am
While my baby plays me like a game
I'm not having fun
                                                               F Dm E
Oh I, I'm, I'm gonna lose my mind
               Dm
Nine one want to leave him

Why my heart is always aching And I gotta be done 'cause I, I, I gotta lose my guy F Dm E Am Oh I, I'm, I'm gonna lose my mind You must think that I'm crazy Well he does too so I guess that makes three? Need someone to save me I'd really appreciate if you'd intervene Doctor's on the other line 'Cause he's not coming home tonight Can't seem to find my bottle or pills Swear to God I'm not insane The voices only say his name When i'm starting to think that they're real Nine one wanna need some (need some) While my baby plays me like a game I'm not having fun (not having fun) Nine one want to leave him Why my heart is always aching And I gotta be done 'cause I, I, I gotta lose my guy
