

Elton John - Sweet painted lady

Tom: C
                                                              Guess that's the name of the game
I'm back on dry land once again
                                                              Oh sweet painted lady
Opportunity awaits me like a rat in the drain
                                                              Seems it's always been the same

We're all hunting honey with money to burn
                                                              Getting paid for being laid
Just a short time to show you the tricks that we've learned
                                                              Guess that's the name of the game
                                                              0h!
If the boys all behave themselves here

Well there's pretty young ladies and beer in the rear
                                                              Forget us we'll have gone very soon

                                                                     G7M
You won't need a gutter to sleep in tonight
                                                              Just forget we ever slept in your rooms
Oh the prices I charge here will see you alright
                                                              And we'll leave the smell of the sea in your beds
                                                              Where love's just a job and nothing is said
So she lays down beside me again
My sweet painted lady, the one with no name
                                                              So she lays down beside me again

Many have used her and many still do

There's a place in the world for a woman like you
