

Elton John - The Emperor's new clothes

```
Dm C G G
                                                            melody: A G E C G Bb (chord) C A F C
melody: AGECG DCAFC
                  Dm C G G
melody: A G E C G Bb (chord) C A F C chords: C Bb
                                                            We flew by our wits and by the seat of our pants
                                                            In the state of illusion
We bet on our lives and we bet on the horses
                                                            In the nation of chance
                                                                                      Am
In that upstairs apartment
                                                            And the repo was hauling the wreck we'd been driving
On Orlando and 4th
                                                            As the dashboard Madonna
     G
And the rent was due and the rent man was knocking Smiled back at us kindly
Like a Chinese proverb
      C C C G F
                                                            We cheated the system never batting an eyelid
We were al- ways searching
                                                            Seeing only the good
Nightlife's a no-win but nobody noticed
                                                            Through the holes in our shoes
How we killed off the bottles
                                                            And our halos were rusty but we wore them proudly
Looking good on the surface
                                                            We were two little gods
                                                              C G Č
                                                                                    F C
The dog days barked and the house cat got old
                                                            In the emperor's new clothes
We were Bonnie and Clyde
                                                            (CHORUS)
                                                            melody: AGECG DCAFC
In the emperor's new clothes
                                                                              Dm
                                                            melody: A G E C G Bb (chord) C A F C
And the tears never came
                                                                               Bh
They just stayed in our eyes
                                                            (INSTRUMENTAL VERSE )
We refused to admit that we wore this disguise
                                                            (CHORUS)
Every inch of us growing melody: A G E C G D C A F C
                                                                              Dm
Like Pinocchio's nose
                       Dm C Dm C
                                                            melody: A G E C G Bb (chord) C A F C
    A A
As we walked around in the em-per-or's new clothes
                                                                              Bb
                                                            F C Dm7 C F C Dm C C C
melody: A G E C G D C A F C
```

Acordes

