

Elvis Presley - Your Time Hasn't Come Yet, Baby

Tom: E

(com acordes na forma de Capotraste na 2ª casa D)

Your time hasn't come yet baby, you got a lot dreams to go,
your time hasn't come yet baby,
but when it does your heart will know.

You're gonna be a beautiful woman, because you're such a beautiful child, and when you start to bloom just like a rose in June, I bet the schoolboys all go wild, but right now

Your time hasn't come yet baby,
you got a lot dreams to go,
your time hasn't come yet baby,
but when it does your heart will know.

Your life's still a lollipop heaven, your teddy bear's at the foot of your bed.

The little boy next door who only makes you sore, is gonna some day turn your head, but right now

Your time hasn't come yet baby,
you got a lot dreams to go,
your time hasn't come yet baby,
but when it does your heart will know.

You're gonna grow overnight into a lady, with a devastating smile, and then a lucky guy will see you, and wanna walk you down the aisle, but meanwhile

Your time hasn't come yet baby,
you got a lot dreams to go,
your time hasn't come yet baby,
but when it does your heart will know.

When it does your heart will know. (2x)
