E Gbm A E
Strip it away, till the colors are gray
Gbm A E
And every franchise is inches away
Gbm
Isn't it great?
A E
There's nowhere to walk
Gbm
But the mall that's abandoned
A E Gbm A
And just down the block (ahh)
E Gbm A
Isn't it great?

E Gbm A E
The hooters is next to Jake's synagogue (na, na, na, na)
Gbm A E
He goes there to pray and then wings after dark (la, la, la, la)
Gbm A E
He picks up his pills and cries in the lot (la, la, la, la)
Gbm A E Gbm A
They built over somebody's mom-and-pop shop
E Gbm A
Isn't it great?

E Gbm A
Ooh, step out to the yard
E
Of trucks and sedans
Gbm A E
All driving fast on occupied land

Acordes

Gbm A E
One day, some drunk driver will crash in my house
Gbm A E Gbm A
And the local news guy will say, isn't that sad?

E Gbm A
Isn't it sad?

E
The view's blocked by ads
Gbm A
And all of the brands are crammed in a plaza
E Gbm A
Where everything's right in the palm of our hands
(E Gbm A)
E Gbm A E
My friends moved away to different states
Gbm A E
To chase the illusion that there's an escape
Gbm A E
The gas station's cold, and it smells of black mold
Gbm A E
I'm pumping in petrol we got through the war

Gbm A E
Nowhere is safe and everything's fine
Gbm A E
There's no better option but lay down and die
Gbm
I'll buy a gun
A E
It's so convenient
Gbm A
It's so convenient (ahh)
