

Florence and The Machine - All This And Heaven Too

```
Tom: C
                                                              And the words are all escaping
 Е
         Dbm
                                                              And coming back all damaged
And the heart is hard to translate
                                                              And I would put them back in poetry
It has a language of its own
                                                              If I only knew how
           Dbm
It talks in tongues of quiet sighs
                                                              I can?t seem to understand it
And prayers and proclamations
    Dbm
                E
In the grand days of great men
                                                              And I would give all this and heaven too
      Α
In the smallest of gestures
                                                              I would give it all if only for a moment
In short, shallow gasps
                                                              That I could just understand the meaning of the word, you see
                                                              'Cause I?ve been scrawling it forever
But with all my education
                                                              But it never makes sense to me at all
I can?t seem to command it
                                                                 Am
And the words are all escaping
                                                              Mmmmm, ooh-ooh
And coming back all damaged
                                                              Oh, oh-oh-oh
And I would put them back in poetry
                                                                                Dm
                                                              Oh-oh, Oh-oh-oh-oh Oh-oh-oh
If I only knew how
                                                              And I would give all this and heaven too
I can?t seem to understand it
                                                              I would give it all if only for a moment
And I would give all this and heaven too
                                                              That I could just understand the meaning of the word, you see
I would give it all if only for a moment
                                                                                F
                                                              'Cause I?ve been scrawling it forever
That I could just understand the meaning of the word, you see
                                                              But it never makes sense to me at all
'Cause I?ve been scrawling it forever
                                                              C Am
     Dm G
                                                              No words
But it never makes sense to me at all
                                                              Our language doesn?t deserve such treatment
And it talks to me, it tip-toes
                                                              And all my stumbling phrases never amounted
And it sinks to the inside
                                                                            Dm
                                                              To anything worth this feeling
It cries out in the darkest night
                                                              All this and Heaven
                                                                                          Dm
And breaks in the morning light
                                                              Never could describe such a feeling as I feel it
                                                              Words were never so useful
But with all my education
                                                                    F
I can?t seem to command it
                                                              So I was screaming out a language that I \,
                                                              Never knew existed before
