

Fontaines D.C. - The Couple Across The Way

tom:

Intro: A E A E
A E A E

A E
Babe, it feels like it's all happened
A E
Twenty-three years of the same
A E
And I'm sorry 'bout this morning
A E
For the damage I will pay

A E
All the mirrors face the walls and
A E
I wake just to long for bed
A E
Love what's got you so down low?
A E
The saddest tongue is in your head

( A E A E )
( A E A E )

A E
I forget the thrill of lies
A E
The truth escaping through the eyes, now
A E
You use voices on the phone

Acordes

A E
That once were spent on me

A E
The world has changed beyond our doorstep
A E
People talk and dress so strange
A E
I don't know a neighbour's name
A E
And all of life is rearranged

A E
Nice to know that you're still caring
A E
Well enough to raise your voice
A E
But if we must bring up the past then
A E
Please don't speak to me of choice

( A E A E )
( A E A E )

A E
Across the way moved in a pair
A E
With passion in its prime
A E
Maybe they look through to us
A E
And hope that's them in time
