

Gabriel Moreno - Clock

tom:

Intro: D A Em G

In the light of this lighthouse
I can see your shadow
In your hand a cigarette
I don't really know

I wanna follow your flying
I know you have wings
A scarf is covering
Your desire to sing

Your voice is still in my head
The night turns blue
I'm listening from my bed
Different kinds of you

(D A Em G)

When I'm dreaming
My mind turns clear
When I'm sleeping
I lose the fear

Now that you've gone
To some far away place
I don't know where you are
But I can see your face

Loneliness is a blanket
It covers beyond the horizon
Maybe I'm just alone
Listening to your songs

(D A Em G)

We have to let die the clock
You were drowning in your sea
Anything could be your rock

How hard could it be?

There are roses in your chest
One day you had to go
You are in your rest
Since your final show
Now that you've gone
To some far away place
I don't know where you are
But I can see your face

Loneliness is a blanket
It covers beyond the horizon
Maybe I'm just alone
Listening to your songs

(D A Em G)

A little goodbye
You've gone so fast
We are victims of this game called life

Day by day
On this way
You inspires me

Now that you've gone
I don't know where you are

Loneliness is a blanket
Maybe I'm just alone

[Final] D A Em G
